BOOSTER NEWS

A retired school teacher who has given many years of service in training the Youthful mind of California was recently asked what he would like to see accomplished in Campbell during 1923. His answer came without hesitation:

"Every dog off the street!"

What made him say that?

Oh, Mr. School Master Man did you mean that for the good of the dogs or did you think about the people? Or was it "Just because"?

DOPE SUPPLY FIXED

AMERICA WILL GET QUANTITIES BOUGHT IN 1922

NEW SCHEDULE IS STRINGENT

Federal Board to Limit the Amount of Opium and Cocaine Country May Receive for the Current Fiscal Year

Washington.—Pending the determination of the minimum legitimate needs for the medical profession, imports of crude opium and cocaine will be restricted for the current fiscal year not to exceed the quantities imported in 1922.

This was determined at a conference between drug manufacturers and the Federal Narcotic Control board. At a later conference a schedule will be arranged to control imports.

In the meantime the concerns that import these poisons and prepare them for the drug and medical trade will figure closely on their legitimate needs.

With the fixing of the new schedule more stringent rules will be formulated to control the distribution of the manufactured products.

Colonel L. G. Nutt, chief of the narcotics division of the Protection bureau said that vast quantities of narcotics unfit for legitimate uses are getting into the hands of drug peddlers and from them to addicts from army storehouses.

Assemblyman Douglas Dead

Sacramento.—Assemblyman G. H. Douglas, 65, physician of Crescent City, and chairman of the Assembly roads and highways committee, dropped dead here from an illness which came upon him suddenly.

Canon City, Colo.—Practically ten months after the gates of the state penitentiary here had opened for him through executive clemency of Governor O. H. Shoup, Harold F. Henwood, convicted of slaying two men, has been returned to prison to serve the remainder of a life sentence. Henwood threatened to kill a young woman, a banker and a woman for whom he had worked because the young woman would not marry him. That is a violation of the parole law.

I. C. Bank Gets Charter

Washington.—The Federal Farm Loan Board has completed the chartering of the Federal land banks so they may operate under the new agricultural credits act in connection with the intermediate credit system. With the granting of a charter to the land bank at Berkeley, Cal., the twelve land banks were made ready formally to assume the functions of the credit banks in addition to their present loaning facilities.

SUICIDE INCREASE ALARMS

Number of Young People who destroy Themselves Has Doubled Since the War Says N. Y. Authority

New York.—The number of suicides among young people has almost doubled since the World war, Dr. Harry M. Warren, president of the Save-a-Life League, declared in his report for 1922. From 477 juvenile suicides listed in 1919, the known total had jumped to 900 in 1922, the report declared, with a probability that for every known suicide there was one self-inflicted death not so listed. The total for the year was 13,530. Boy suicides averaged in age 16 years, while the girls who died by their own hand averaged 15 .

French Confiscate Machinery

Duesseldorf.—Thirteen hundred tons of machinery and tools were seized here by an order of the restitution officers in Wiesbaden, in accordance with two ordinances promulgated by the interallied Rhineland commission with a view to assuring resumption of reparation in kind from Germany.

The goods taken will be divided between the French and Belgians. Orders have been given for similar siezures at Siegburg.

New Liquor Ruling

New York.—Much liquor will enter the United States during the coming year with the knowledge and consent of customs officers, if a recent ruling is not contested allowing each passenger on an incoming ship to bring a quart of booze, providing he hands to the customs inspector a written statement to the effect that the liquor is to be used for medicinal purposes.

Convict Attempts Rescue

Redding.—A convict named Dyer is near death at the Folsom prison hospital after an unsuccessful attempt to save the life of Edwin H. Cowan, a prison guard, at the State highway, camp near Big Bar, Trinity county. Cowan was caught in a blast and killed. Dyer, in an attempt to rescue Cowan, received a fractured skull and two broken ribs.

Sierra Power Dam

Grass Valley.—An expenditure of approximately one and one-half million dollars whereby the rock-fill dam at Lake Fordyce, will be raised slightly less than fifty feet is assured. This will increase the storage capacity of the reservoir to 47,000 acre feet. The company is also preparing to enlarge its generating facilities below Lake Spaulding.

Flood Waters Recede

Onawa (Ia.)—Most of the water which spread over the lowlands on the Iowa side of the Missouri river near here as a result of an ice pack ten miles long, has receded as the river cut a channel through the ice on the Nebraska side.

Women Burned to Death

Detroit.—Two unidentified women inmates of the county hospital at Eloise, near here were burned to death in a fire that destroyed a three-story brick building used as a women's psychopathic ward.

SUPT. HANCOCK ADDRESSES CLUB

The Home and School Club met Tuesday afternoon in and interesting session.

The delegates who attended the County Federation of P. T. A. gave their reports and County Superintendent Jos. E. Hancock gave a very interesting talk, dwelling on Child Welfare, co-operation between the clubs and the teachers and other matters of interest.

Miss Fablinger's room secured the prize picture for mothers' attendance. It was decided that the club should sell candy at the benefit entertainment Saturday night.

The Federation is to hold a card party at the Vendome Hotel Wednesday, April 11, and as many of the club as possible are urged to buy tickets and attend.

The question of furnishing cookies for the Base Hospital at Palo Alto was discussed and a date will be set later. The cook book committee are still at work and are very anxious to secure more advertisements.

The club will furnish light refreshments at the dedication of the new school tonight.

A called meeting will be held Tuesday, April 17.

'FATHER' STRAY BETTER

The joy of Easter was sadly dimmed for a very wide circle of friends and acquaintances of George N. Stray, lovingly known as "Father Stray," when the fact of his illness became known.

On Saturday, he visited the barber shop, apparently in his usual health, but was stricken with paralysis. He was hurriedly removed to his home and every possible attention given him, but Monday his condition was seemingly worse and grave fears were entertained.

Tuesday, however, he experienced a remarkable recovery and was able to be dressed and took a few steps, as well as being able to speak understandingly.

His immediate and complete recovery is the earnest wish of all who know him.

ELECTIONS QUIET

The elections for choice of school trustees and fire commissioners passed off very quietly, the former on Friday afternoon and the latter on Monday.

Messrs. Jos. Conner and George Husted were returned to the board for the Campbell Union Grammar School, and Dr. A. B. Townsend to the High School Board.

Ralson Alison and W. H. Stray who were holding office by appointment, were elected to succeed themselves and E. C. Merrill was elected for the third commissioner.

Pleased with Valley

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rist and daughter, Lilla Pearl, of Oak, Cal., were week-end guests of C. F. Rubell. They were much impressed with the beauties of the blossoms and are considering the matter of ultimately making their home in this county.

Mr. Rist is one of the most extensive and successful farmers of Monterey County, raising 8000 sacks of wheat and barley on 500 acres of summer fallow in 1922.

Mrs. A. M. Standish was called to Hollywood, Calif., last Wednesday by the death of her brother-in-law.

A number of Campbell friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Oliver and family of Merced, received cards this week annuoncing the marriage of Hazel Oliver to Edward Alfred Peard. The wedding took place Easter Sunday at the bride's home. Mr. Peard is employed by the Standard Oil Co. at Merced, where they will continue to reside.

MISSES KALAS IN BENEFIT RECITAL

If one may judge by the early demand for tickets and the inquiries regarding them, the concert to be given the evening of April 14 by Miss Bozena Kalas and Miss Helen Kalas for the benefit of the Library Fund, will be the most largely attended musical event ever held in Campbell.

A number of San Jose people who have had the pleasure of hearing these two young artists in musical affairs in San Jose have already purchased tickets altho they were only issued Tuesday.

That this will be one of the most worth while entertainments which Campbell has been privileged to hear, there is no question. Miss Kalas studied piano with one of the leading New York artists and is now one of the faculty of the College of Pacific, whose music department has a national reputation.

Miss Helen Kalas, who has a voice remarkable in strength and quality for one of her years, is a pupil of Mrs. Warren Allen, former teacher of voice at the College of Pacific, now in Palo Alto.

A generous section of the auditorium will be reserved so that holders of reserved seat tickets will be assured of a good seat, without coming so early, while there will be a wide range of seats for holders of general admission and students tickets. Student tickets are good for State Teachers College, C. of P. and other schools.

Saturday evening, April 14 at 8 o'clock. Tickets 75c, 50c and 25c.

DR. KNOWLES TO SPEAK

Residents of this community have in store a decided privilege for next Thursday evening, Apr. 12, Dr. Tully C. Knowles, of the College of Pacific, will speak at the new auditorium.

Educational week was not observed here publicly because the right type of speaker was unattainable, but now that the committee has secured Dr. Knowles, the auditorium should be filled to capacity.

The public generally is invited and all who are interested in the promotion of education, in the advancement of Americanization, and in lowering the number of illiterates, are urged to be present, and extend the invitation widely.

We are extremely proud of the place that California holds in number and kind of schools and amount of money expended for education, and we are especially proud of our own valley, but still, Mrs. Godfrey, San Francisco's District Chairman of Americanization, in a recent talk to a convention of club women, stated that Santa Clara County is one of the most illiterate spots in the United States. Furthermore, that the per centage of illiteracy was higher outside of San Jose, and that that is really the only place making appreciable efforts to reach its illiterates.

Come out then on Thursday evening and hear Dr. Knowles, recognized as one of the finest speakers on the coast.

MOVED TO STOCKTON

Mrs. George Isbell left Tuesday for Stockton to join her husband and sons who have entered the employ of the Holt Manufacturing Co. in that city, with prospects of advancement. Mrs. Isbell remained to negotiate the sale of Stanley's house on Rincon Avenue, which met with a ready purchaser.

As Mr. and Mrs. Isbell leave two married daughters, Mrs. Lillian Smith of Campbell, and Mrs. H. E. Williams, of San Jose, we shall expect to see them here occasionally and wish them every success in their new work.

WOMEN NOVELISTS STUDIED BY CLUB

It is quite remarkable how interesting the study of noted women, which the Coutry Woman's Club has been pursuing this year has proven to be.

Monday's program treated of Women Novelists, and as in all other branches of the world's activities, the entrance of women into this field and their growth in numbers was one of the striking notes brought out in the fine paper which Mrs. Helen Dodge had prepared. In introducing her topic she explained the use of the terms novel and romance.

No women novelists appear among the ancient nations, nor the medieval, and only a few among the German, French and Italians until the 19th century.

One Swedish writer, Frederica Bremet (1801-1865) visited America and wrote many complimentary articles about our life and hospitality.

Amng English writers are noted Hannah Moore, Jane Austin, Jane Porter, Charlotte Bronte, D. M. M. Craike, Mrs. Humphrey Ward and George Eliot.

A very comprehensive criticism was given of the type of novel of that period, the style of hero and herine and the forms of life depicted. The lives of three of the more famous of these novelists were then briefly related with comments on their works—Jane Austin, Charlotte Bronte and George Eliot.

The latter part of the paper dealt with early American writers whose works fall into three periods, first, the Colonial; second, the Revolutionary; third, the Period of the Republic, but there were no novelists of note until about the Civil War time, when Harriet Beecher Stowe came into prominence. Other names were listed, a few of whom were taken up by other members of the program committee.

Mrs. W. I. Merrill read parts of an extremely interesting account of Olive Schreiner's life and works. She was born in South Africa in 1862, and was the author of "The Story of An African Farm" published under the pseudonym of Ralph Iron. Attention is drawn to her at this time on account of the appearance, two years after her death, of a new book. A few excerpts from "The Story of An African Farm" were then read.

An article on Sigrid Uunset, a new Norweigen writer, whose "The Bridal Wreath" is rivalling Hamsun's, "Growth of the Soil" was presented by Mrs. Ellen R. Smith, and Mrs. H. C. Smith touched briefly upon some of the present day Americans, Edith Wharton, Gertrude Atherton and Gene Stratton Porter, finishing the program with a reading from her "Song of the Cardinal."

Another pleasant feature of the afternoon was the report of the County Federation meeting by Mrs. E. R. Kennedy. Further information was given regarding the coming convention of the District Federation, which some 600 to 1000 women will attend, and whom this club will assist the Saratoga Foothill Club to entertain.

PRESS GIVEN RELIC

A copy of the Great Register of Santa Clara County for the year 1892 has been presented to the Press Office by George H. Whitney. It is compiled alphabetically for the whole county and contains a comprehensive description of the registrants, including age, height in feet and inches, complexion, color of eyes, color f hair, visible marks or scars if any, and their location, occupation, country of nativity, place of residence, date, place and court of naturalization, and date of registration.

As yet we have not had time for a careful examination of the book, but it will be interesting to see who were among the voting citizens of Campbell at that time.

W. H. Wadell

Relatives and friends of W. H. Waddell were shocked to hear of his sudden death last Sunday. Mr. Waddell was a resident of Campbell for more than a year, living on Johnson Avenue where he built a new home but sold it and moved to San Jose. He was a native of Indiana but had lived in Santa Clara County over 40 years. About 16 years ago he married Miss Rose Briggs who was a pioneer resident of Campbell. He was also a cousin of C. E. and Fred Hanger. Mr. Waddell was in usual health to within an hour of his death and conversed with his wife. He passed out without awakening about six o'clock Sunday morning.

The body was cremated and the ashes will be sent to his old home at Stockwell, Indiana, for burial.

PASSION PLAY

A committee of prominent society women of Santa Clara County has been organized to assist in the elaborate preparations now being made for the fourth revival of Clay M. Greene's splendid Biblical drama, "The Passion Play of Santa Clara", which is to be enacted by the associated students of the old mission college in their college auditorium Friday evening, April 27, Saturday evening, April 28, and Sunday afternoon and evening, April 29.

It will be of interest to his many friends in Campbell to know that Ray J. Hulsman has been selected for a prominent role in the ensembles of the play.

Tickets for the approaching presentations will be placed on public sale commencing Friday, April 6. Headquarters for tickets have been established at the University, the Wiley B. Allen Co., in San Jose, and Weingartner & Co., in Palo Alto.

Ticket reservations may be made through the Passion Play Committee at the University.

Where the Man Comes In

(The Family Budget Talk, No. 3.)

In addition to loving her husband truly, because he is the bravest, the noblest, altogether the most adorable man on earth, a woman should also consider her better-half with a business eye. He is the chief income producer of the family, and without an income there can be no family budget.

The housewife, then, who adopts a family budget system may look upon it in two ways: she may regard it as an effective plan for regulating expenses; she may think of it, too, as a means of relieving her husband of the financial details of home management——for her own good.

We say, "for her own good," advisedly. Other things being equal, that man is the best provider whose mind is the most free to concentrate on his job. Therefore our lady who has her budget and other domestic plans running so smoothly that her husband hardly knows of their existence, will likely have a better bread-winner than her neighbor has who is careless of such things.

We are told that men are by nature made warriors, made for fighting, for "pitching in," for great bursts of physical or nervous effort to be followed by corresponding relaxation. Look at this home picture. It is evening, and the man of the house is leaning back in his easy chair, his feet high on a stool. He has a newspaper in his hand, but he nods over it, drops it, and wakes himself rather comically now and then. He's at ease, though, at the end of the day's work, perfectly happy. The wife sits at the table, with pencil and note book, figuring how her budget is coming out. She looks up occasionally and smiles at her husband indulgently. Being wise, she is taking good care both of the income and the income provider—some day, as her man achieves greater success, there'll be a larger monthly allowance for that family budget!

Tried and recommended by some local housewives, good cooks, who know what's what.

Butter With a Personality.

You like to know something interesting, a personal touch, relative to an article you use.

There's Sam Greene, pioneer butter maker, originator of Isleton Butter. Sam Greene has a head for thinking, and uses it. He's one of the first who thought of putting butter in a carton. Why a carton? Well, sounds like the dark ages, but for a fact some folks used to sample butter, taste it, via finger nails, before they bought it. Sam objected. So he sealed up his butter in a carton that gave it at once protection and identity—a label to have confidence in. That was a long progressive stride, as you see when you consider what a carton means to cleanliness.

And Sam Greene kept on with ideas to make butter better, until, among dairymen, to think of good butter was to think of Sam Greene. When the war came, Sam was put on the government food commission, dairy department, on account of his knowledge of butter. After the war, the dairymen of the state organized the California Dairy Council, and put Sam Greene in charge of it. His present job is to encourage both the production and the consumption of good milk and butter in a state-wide way, through publicity.

It was a humor of Sam Greene's to make his butter label green, like his name. That makes it easy to remember Isleton, the butter in a green carton.

This evening will occur the dedication of the new grammar school building, for which an interesting and elaborate program, as published last week, has been arranged. Exercises will begin at 8 o'clock and there will be a reception following.

The entertainment Saturday evening at which the dancing classes of Mrs. Vaudine Putnam Sanders, some seventy in number, will demonstrate the work done, promises to be by far the most elaborate of the kind ever presented here. It is one which children as well as elders will heartily enjoy.

Work in preparation for the new library has begun. The pepper tree is no more. Volunteer labor felled it. E. E. Weeks has donated the sills for the present building to rest upon when moved and Mr. A. Anderson hauled them. Every dollar's worth of labor or material assistance of any kind that is volunteered will mean that much less that the club will have to borrow to complete the building, and is just as highly appreciated as cash pledges.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Special Revival Services will begin next Sunday at the Methodist Church, with Evangelist H. B. Roller assisting. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to participate in the meetings.

Easter was appropriately observed with special music, the observance of commnuion and reception of members into the church.

Special Easter services were held both morning and evening in the Congregational church. At the first service communion was observed, a large group admitted to membership, and special music was enjoyed.

The song and story service in the evening was very effective the story being a sweetly simple narrative of the death and resurrection of Christ, and the music was of a higher type and with more varied style than previous ones. The chorus choir under the leadership of Dr. W. I. Merrill received due meed of praise for their work.

HERE AND NOW

Each kindly act
We do toward men,
Each loving word
By voice or pen,
Brings recompense
In brotherhood,
And makes the Father
Understood.

He helps us climb
The rugged road,
He lightens every
Pressing load,
His loving hand
Is ever near,
His whisperings banish
Every fear.

So let us by
Our word and deed
Bring heaven to earth
With greater speed,
That in our lives
The world may see
Beginnings of Eternity.

the
BEST OIL
made is refined from
WESTERN CRUDE

The motorist who pays fancy prices for oil, often pays for something he does not get.

Zerolene costs less because it is produced in California from selected California naphthenic crude, which, of all the crudes so far discovered, yields the most efficient lubricating oils.

Zerolene lubricates better. It forms from 25% to 50% less carbon. It has greater adhesiveness and penetration than oils made from any other crude.

CONQUERED THE WART HOG

"Flivver" Proved Too Much for Pugnacious South African Animal Who Objected to Its Presence.

The wild animals of South Africa do not take kindly to such new-fangled ideas as "flivvers," as the following incident, related by William McStay, historian of H. A. Snow's expedition, which has been hunting big game from a motor car, will show:

"The wart hog, whose name fairly well describes his appearance, fought Snow's machine to a standstill; to the beast, the 'fliv' was a new form of enemy. Snow encountered the wart hog one day in driving a path across the trackless waste. For amusement the explorer chased the hog quite a distance, when, with suddenness and ferocity, the beast turned to attack. With slavering jowls and grunting defiance the wart hog hurled itself against the trusty flivver, the only carrier not susceptible to the death bite of the tse-tse fly. Its tusks ripped the tires. Its hard head battered the radiator.

"Backward reeled the Tin Lizzie, trembling in every member. Forward she lunged again, thwacking the animal in broad beam. The latter charged anew, again she retreated and again she lunged like a gasoline billygoat. Finally the wart hog gave up the struggle and went and sat down afar off, watching the new enemy it could not conquer. The beat's attitude of dejection was sufficient to cause laughter."

LITTLE NOW GOES TO WASTE

Science Has Discovered Innumerable Methods for Turning Rubbish to Profitable Uses.

One of the most remarkable features of modern life is that nothing need be wasted.

Science has discovered ways of turning every kind of rubbish into something useful. Refuse is burned in specially constructed furnaces, and the heat produced is turned into steam which is used for driving the dynamos that produce electric light. Even the ashes are used to make cement.

Soapsuds, which formerly polluted our rivers, are now strained, mixed with lime, and pressed into bricks, which, when burned, give three times the amount of heat that a similar quantity of coal gas would produce.

A dead horse can be put to almost endless uses. The hair is turned into hair-cloth and stuffing for mattresses; the hide forms leather table coverings; the tendons are made into glue and gelatine; the flesh is used as food for cats and dogs, and the blood is manufactured into prussiate of potash and manure. The bones reappear as knifehandles.

Jelly has been made from old boots and whisky from old shirts. Sawdust can be made into quite eatable cakes, and fish-scales into artificial pearls.

Superstitions of Thieves.

A laundryman who for eleven years used his coffin as a safe, was wise in his generation, for it is not believed that any thief would have meddled with such a receptacle. Certainly no professional burglar would have touched it.

For the criminal classes, almost without exception, are steeped in queer beliefs in luck, omens and the like.

The burglar carefully avoids any house where a death has recently taken place. Anything black is anathema to him. The black cat, which to some people is an omen of good fortune, to him is just the reverse. Should a black cat be seen sitting on the steps or sill of a house marked down for plunder he will avoid it. Another animal which terrifies him is a blind dog.

Hudson's Bay Company.

The Hudson's Bay company, incorporated in 1670, connects, by uninterrupted lineage, the North American wilds of the moving picture set with the stern realties of an earlier day. The first records of this stanch example of British emprise contain the following notation of a shipment made to the company's posts shortly after the earliest expedition to Canada in 1668:

Two hundred fowling pieces with powder and shot.

Two hundred copper kettles.

Twelve gross knives.

One thousand hatchets.

The copper kettles used today in these northernmost outposts of civilization are practically identical in design with those of two centuries or more ago.

Will Return Silver

Washington.—The silver service presented by the Vermont legislature in 1904 to the battleship Vermont, will be returned to the donors, as soon as a formal request is received from the governor.

First Teacher Dies

Dixon, Ill.—Miss Ruth A. Messer, said to be the first American school teacher at Sitka, Alaska, where she went in 1868, when the United States acquired the territory, died at her home here this week.

Norfolk, Va.—Guard officials here believe that a wireless report, which sent relief craft scurrying to the Frying Pan lightship was a ruse employed by rum runners to divert the attention of the coast guards so that they might run the blockade off the Virginia capes.

"CANNON" PROVED A FAILURE

Indian War Party Suffered Through the Inventive Genius of One of Their Number.

One of the most peculiar pieces of ordnance ever invented was that which was tried for its sole occasion at the storming of Fort Henry, in what is now West Virginia, by Simon Girty, the famous renegade, and his several hundred Indian followers, on September 1, 1777.

All day long, without success and with considerable loss, the savages and their still more savage leader had been attempting to carry the little stockade with its handful of defenders. Night had settled down and their patience was short, when some inventive genius amongst them suggested the making of artillery with which to batter down the stubborn walls.

A maple log, already hollowed by the process of time, was bound with chains, plugged at the breech with wood, filled to the muzzle with stones, pieces of iron and other missiles. It was then conveyed to within 60 yards of the gate and discharged. The log burst into a thousand pieces, its fragments scattering in all directions and killing several of the attackers. And not a picket of the fort was injured.

What and Where Kent's Hole Is.

A cavern in the vicinity of Torquay, England, famous not only for its relics of primative man, but also for its remains of extinct animals, is known as Kent's Hole. Although the existence of this cave had been known from time immemorial, it did not attract the attention of scientists until 1825. Excavations were carried on by Pengelly from 1865 to 1880, at a cost of nearly £2,000 and yielded results of the highest importance to the science of anthropology.

There were found flint tools of the Paleolithic age and implements of bone, such as needles, awls and harpoons. The animal remains discovered comprised those of the lion, hyena, bear, wolf, fox, rhinoceros, mammoth, Irish elk and reindeer, showing that those animals once lived in Britain and were co-temporaneous with men of the Stone age.

GENIUS FINDS MANY OUTLETS

Interesting to Note What a Perusal of the Patent Office Gazette Will Disclose.

Mouse traps were selected by a philosopher as the subject for his illustration of the esteem of inventive genius. If he were alive today he would probably be a constant and thoughtful reader of the Patent Office Gazette, one of the most matter-of-fact publications of our time, remarks the Nation's Business.

In a single issue he would observe, not only mouse traps, but contrivances for pretty much the whole range of modern activity. "Fishing tools" to use in oil wells appear next to live-bait boxes for the real disciples of Isaak Walton. Apparatus for making petroleum increase its yield in gasoline stands next to a new powder puff. A shoe heel and a dish washer go together. A car dumper which laughs at 50 tons and a sure means of catching cockroaches face each other. Out of the great collection of developments of ingenuity appearing week by week in the severe type of the Patent Office Gazette is likely to come much of the progress of the future.

Social Classification.

A Kentucky negro who had been in the city only about two months got a job as hall boy in an apartment house that has seen better days; a choice building once, but one that went the way with many others during the housing shortage and was cut up into sleeping cubicles by absentee landladies with an eye to fat weekly intake.

A caller stopped the other day to see a man living in the house. The hall boy responded that the person sought was not in.

"Well, take me up to his place, anyhow," said the caller.

"Dey ain't no use takin' you up," expostulated the hall boy. "I done tole you, mister, dat gentleman is gone out."

"Take me up," persisted the visitor. "I'll leave a message with his folks."

"Mister," replied the youth with an air that dismissed the question for all time, "it won't do no good. Dey ain't no folks lives here at all, jes' roomers."

Where Up Is Down.

A couple of young Englishmen were trying to write a southern song to fit a vaudeville act for America.

"Now we mustn't foozle like Algy," declared one. "He wrote a song entitled 'Away Down South in Oregon,' and Oregon isn't down south at all."

The next day one of them met an American in the grill and asked him what state he hailed from.

"I came from down in Maine."

"Down in Maine?" was asked.

"Down in Maine," the other insisted.

Immediately the youngster bawled to his partner in the lobby: "Hi, there Percy, I've got our location for a southern song."

Huge Japanese Loan

Washington.—Henry Chung, Korean independence representative, has declared the proposed loan of $20,000,000 by the International Bankers to a Japanese concern was a scheme still further to fasten the chains of economic and political slavery on his unhappy country.

BOOST A LITTLE BIT

Anyone almost can be a knocker;
It's easier to tear down than to build,
So why not try your best to be a booster?

With pessimists the world's already filled.
You can't expect that things will always suit you:
In melancholy judgment then you sit?
No. Better far to help along a little;
Better far to boost a little bit.

It never pays to join the anvil chorus,
Or spread unkind reports about your town;
Many there are to hamper and retard it,
Who do their level best to run it down.
What if it has its little failings?
It has it's good points, also, hasn't it?
So why not to the wheel adjust your shoulder;
Why not get out and boost a little bit.
A churlish dog may bay the moon in anguish;
The frog must croak, for nature willed it so,
The mules were placed on earth to do the kicking
(As any good zoology will show).
The good Lord has provided for the knocking,
So if a wider groove you long to fit,
Adopt this as a motto: "BE A BOOSTER"
And then get out and boost a little bit.

WHAT WE CAN ALL DO

We cannot all be rich or great,
We cannot all achieve success,
We cannot always dodge grim fate,
Nor keep plumb full of cheerfulness.
We cannot all be glad, you bet,
And fell real joyous all the day,
But all of us can run in debt,
And have a bunch of bills to pay!
